18 I'll take entries in court, please.

19 MR. BERNICK: Good afternoon, Your Honor. David 20 Bernick for Grace.

21 THE COURT: Anyone else for Grace entering an 22 appearance?

23 MR. O'NEILL: Good afternoon, Your Honor. James 24 O'Neill for Grace.

1 MR. FREEDMAN: Theodore Freedman for Grace.

2 MS. BAER: Janet Baer for Grace.

3 MR. BAENA: May it please the Court. Good morning,
4 Your Honor. Scott Baena and Jay Sakalo for the PD Committee.

5 MS. KRIEGER: Good morning, Your Honor. Arlene 6 Krieger from Stroock on behalf of the Official Committee of 7 Unsecured Creditors.

8 MR. WESTBROOK: Good morning, Your Honor. Ed
9 Westbrook for the ZAI Claimants.

10 MR. SCOTT: Good morning, Your Honor. Darrell Scott
11 on behalf of the Washington Class.

12 MR. LOCKWOOD: Good morning, again, Your Honor.
13 Peter Lockwood on behalf of the ACC.

14 MR. FRANKEL: Good morning, Your Honor. Roger 15 Frankel on behalf of David Austern (phonetic), the future 16 claims representative.

17 MR. MONACO: Good morning, Your Honor. Frank Monaco
18 for the Crown. Your Honor, I also introduce my co-counsel, 19 Jacqueline Dais-Visca, she's from the Canadian Department of 20 Justice.

21 THE COURT: Thank you.

22 MR. HOGAN: Good morning, Your Honor. Daniel Hogan
23 on behalf of the Canadian ZAI Claimants. With me, Your Honor, 24 is Michelle Belenjaj (phonetic) from the firm up in Canada.

25 THE COURT: Thank you. Mr. Bernick?

1 MR. BERNICK: Your Honor, I think we have six items 2 on the agenda today, and all of them relate to the ZAI matter.
3 We've made -- we've had some informal contacts in anticipation
4 of the hearing because we know that Your Honor has a tight time 5 table today given the number of matters that have to be 6 considered. And I think that -- I think that I would propose,
7 subject to -- I don't know we have a firm agreement, but what I
8 would propose is that the debtors start out -- I have a 9 relatively short statement to make that I don't think will take 10 very long. And then I suppose people who have other ideas, 11 other motions should go, and then we'll probably -- I'll 12 probably then have a more extended response to the different 13 issues that had been -- have been raised. And then if people 14 want to have further argument in response to my response, I 15 suppose that a certain amount of that's inevitable, albeit at 16 that point I think we'll probably be short on time.

17 But I -- I would -- I'd like to emphasize that my 18 initial remarks will be -- will be pretty short and that I do 19 -- I'm not going to try to anticipate everything else that 20 might be out there. I'm just going to try to give an overview 21 report.

22 THE COURT: All right.

23 (AUDIBILITY IS POOR - EXTREMELY DIFFICULT TO HEAR DURING MR.
24 BERNICK'S PRESENTATION -- AT TIMES INDISCERNIBLE)

25 MR. BERNICK: So, if that's satisfactory with the 1 Court, then I'll just -- I'll just go ahead and proceed.

2           Your Honor, I think that there -- we do have a bunch
3 of motions, but they're -- they all share some common features.
4 First, they're all directed to how this case -- how this issue
5 should be managed. Essentially it's a case management series 6 of motions.

7           They all, in that respect, are directed to in varying 8 degrees and in varying context to the Court's discretion.

9 There are some hard and fast legal tests that are out there, 10 but an awful lot of the motions really call for the Court to 11 exercise discretion.

12           And the four most objective, therefore, I believe 13 really governs all these motions is the objective of how to 14 advance this case towards resolution. And in that respect, I 15 think that the essential choice that the Court is presented 16 with is what I call almost a geometric choice. By that, I mean 17 given where we are today, and given the confirmation that we 18 all hope to -- hope will occur, what's the path that's taken 19 between today and confirmation? And essentially our option, 20 what we believe is the appropriate path, is the shortest 21 distance, it's a straight line. Whereas I believe that the 22 proposals that you'll hear in the context of the other motions 23 call for a more complex arrangement, and in many cases, one 24 that doesn't actually lead back to confirmation, but assumes 25 that there's activity post confirmation, perhaps for a very 1 extended period of time.

2           So, what I want to do in my initial remarks is to 3 talk about that -- talk about that straight line, and then 4 contrast it with the other proposals --

5           THE COURT: Mr. Bernick, excuse me. Okay. Thank 6 you.

7           MR. BERNICK: And if I can ask the Court's indulgence
8 -- so, where are we today with respect to ZAI? We're at a 9 point where we have essentially a small number of claims, I 10 believe it's less than ten claims, that are ZAI claims and are 11 before the Court. And with respect to those ten claims, we 12 also have the determination of the very central issue, which is 13 the science issue. And as the Court's well aware, we spent the 14 better part of really several years, taken all the way back to 15 a process that really began in '02 and several million dollars 16 worth of estate assets, (indiscernible) was developed.

17           The point that we want to get to is -- again, I 18 believe (indiscernible) -- at a certain point today, we'll want 19 to talk about that. But I believe that what we're going to 20 (indiscernible) is that we aim for a confirmation hearing the 21 first part of January, we have specific dates to propose 22 (indiscernible).

23           THE COURT: Right, I thought we provided dates.

24           MR. BERNICK: You --

25           THE COURT: Okay.

1 MR. BERNICK: (Indiscernible) but we're subject to 2 our saying we want them.

3 THE COURT: Oh.

4 MR. BERNICK: We want them.

5 THE COURT: All right.

6 MR. BERNICK: Again, I think that in terms of a 7 disclosure statement hearing, as I indicated to Roger Frankel, 8 who's here for future representative, we know he has a conflict 9 that nobody (indiscernible). So, it's not going to be in 10 September, maybe earlier than that, but more likely early 11 October for disclosure statement hearing.

12 THE COURT: All right.

13 MR. BERNICK: So, that's we're actually going with 14 the case.

15 Now, the only -- the best and highest prospect for 16 getting of to the end of the day with respect to confirmation 17 is to give fruition to the agreement in principle
18 (indiscernible) between the debtor and the Asbestos Claimants'
19 Committee, futures representative, and the Equity Committee.
20 And that agreement, as Your Honor is well aware, was very, very 21 actively negotiated, the economics of that agreement were gone
22 over so that Mr. Ostrick (phonetic) was satisfied -- I know 23 he'll be able to represent to the Court he got the last dollar 24 that was (indiscernible).

25 As a consequence of the (indiscernible), the company

1 (indiscernible), it's very important that other matters that 2 are still pending in this case be treated in a certain way
3 (indiscernible). And one of those matters that's 4 (indiscernible) is through (indiscernible). The plan -- the 5 (indiscernible) as a condition for confirmation that the ZAI 6 claims will be dealt with through an estimating or if the 7 parties can reach an agreement to treat it in some other 8 fashion that is consistent with and enables us to bring the 9 agreement and the principle in the plan home, there may be 10 another path. But at the least, we (indiscernible) there has 11 to be some (indiscernible).

12           So, what's the straight path? Well, the straight 13 path between today and getting to a confirmation where we 14 reserve and implement the agreement in principle that's been 15 reached, takes us down to relevantly (indiscernible). We need 16 to have, first of all, a number of claimants, X claimants times
17 Y dollars in order to give us the estimate (indiscernible) 18 confirmation. So, we really have two components. Who are the 19 ZAI claimants, and what other claims (indiscernible). Those 20 are two very simple components.

21           And in the past exist, under the Rules, they're 22 getting us to the point where we have that estimate, the ZAI 23 liability, are really threefold:

24           We can litigate through a judgment;

25           We can estimate for purposes of determining which of 1 those claims that are going forward, what are they worth for 2 distribution purposes;

3 Or we can settle. And of course, I know that Your 4 Honor would always like -- everybody would like to see this 5 settle.

6 Those are the options, they're all available to us.
7 But each and every one of those options depends vitally on this 8 taking place in the bankruptcy process, utilizing the tools 9 that are uniquely available (indiscernible). What do I mean by 10 that? It is only in bankruptcy that we can find out who the 11 present claimants really are. That's the only place it can be 12 done. You could bar date by having people actually show up.
13 Yes, we can have estimates, we can extrapolate from the survey, 14 all kind of statics will be brought to bear, but they will all 15 be imperfect, they will have extremely ranges of confidence
16 (indiscernible). But in bankruptcy, we don't have to worry 17 about doing that. We can just say, people, show up. And once 18 they show up, we then also have some things that are available 19 to us in bankruptcy that are uniquely available to us in 20 bankruptcy to enable us to figure out what's the best path to 21 get through an estimate, and what are they?

22 We can either litigate with respect to those 23 claimants. We can say, okay, there's a determination with 24 respect to the science issue on these ten claims or whatever.
25 We're going to move for summary judgment with respect to all of 1 these other claimants, with respect to exactly the same issue.

2 And people object, or they want to come back and say the motion 3 can be denied, they can have that opportunity, and if, in fact, 4 they come back and do that, we can then get a very orderly and 5 simple process in getting to the point (indiscernible) a 6 litigated result.

7           We can take the same path through estimation. Now, 8 in estimation and litigation (indiscernible) are very different 9 than bankruptcy because we have the ability to keep everybody 10 there and treat them according to the same protocol and the 11 same rules. It's the only place in our jurisprudence -- our 12 judicial system where we get the ability for a unitary 13 consolidated proceeding, that's by both litigation and 14 estimation. With estimation, we can do even more. We can have 15 an estimation to follow the Federal Rules of Evidence and 16 Federal Rules and Civil Procedure that also permits the Court 17 to do things that couldn't be done in ordinary litigation, 18 including extrapolation. And -- and we have settlement. Why 19 is settlement enhanced by the bankruptcy process? Because if 20 we have a bar date, and we have the claimants come forward, we 21 know exactly who they are and we can enter into settlement 22 discussions pertaining to those people specifically as a 23 defined number represented by counsel, or those claimants. So, 24 that respect, this is a very tight channel, this is a very 25 tight bankruptcy specific channel and everything in it fits,

1 and each part of it depends on the prior part. We depend on 2 getting identification of real claimants, not hypothesized 3 claimants, not claimants that need to do anything in order to 4 be, quote, "included." We need those claimants, and then we 5 need a process for keeping them consolidated around this 6 constellation of (indiscernible). And I believe that all of 7 these things are possible in a relatively simple term that 8 create a bar date, then to litigate or estimate, or settlement 9 all in time for that confirmation hearing, and we resolve yet 10 another issue and we keep this case going forward towards 11 confirmation (indiscernible).

12 Now, (indiscernible) that you're going to hear about 13 in a moment entail? Well, they all entail deviating from this 14 very robust path, this path that is specifically called for and 15 enabled by the bankruptcy process, and nowhere else. They're 16 all designed to take us away from that path. So, we have 17 Proposal 1, which is let's take the claim as to which we 18 already have a determination, and have an entry of judgment so 19 that they can then be appealed. Well, the first thing we know 20 is that that path is never going to get done by the time of any 21 kind of (indiscernible) confirmation. That's a path that, you 22 know, see you later, maybe at some point in the future we'll 23 learn about what happened there, there's no certainty, there's 24 no definition of the liability, there's nothing. And that 25 entry is now with respect to a handful of claims whereas if

1 (indiscernible) with respect to all personal injury -- all -- 2 all claims that are being made to property damage associated 3 with the bar date.

4           It is also partial, not only with respect to number,
5 it is partial with respect to issue. Because there are other 6 issues that I know that they -- the ZAI claimants say that they 7 want to raise. Why not get them (indiscernible) so it's not 8 being taken up to appeal, and it is further an appeal that was 9 already sought earlier in this case, flatly rejected by Judge 10 Buckwalter when he said there is no reason why you need to 11 (indiscernible).

12           Then we have the idea that says that, no, we're not 13 going to have an entry of judgment, let's retain a bunch of 14 experts who are going to advise the Court on the question of 15 how many claims there are. Well, that's a way of saying, you 16 know, gee, we can look in the microscope and count off the 17 little particles or we can not look in the microscope, but have 18 people do a survey in order to figure out how many particles
19 are under the microscope. Why would you want to do that? Why 20 would you want to avoid looking at the data, which only comes 21 out of this process here with the bar date, and serve as a 22 perpetuating in controversy that's never going to get resolved.
23 We already know that there's going to be a (indiscernible), 24 we'll all just do it amongst the experts, and any expert that 25 comes in to offer a, quote, "independent opinion" is going to

1 be subject to cross examination which will then show exactly
2 how broad (indiscernible) are. So, this is a recipe that, yes,
3 produces a number. But it produces a number that immediately
4 will say we got a huge question (indiscernible). This is not 5 to enhance the cost of (indiscernible) lead to another -- 6 another debate.

7           So, we then have the last (indiscernible). We then 8 have the class proposal. Now, the class proposal is a proposal 9 that says we're not going to replace everything that we've 10 talked about here. We're not going to have X claimants, we're 11 going to have a class. We're not going to know who the real 12 people are who are going to step forward. But then, are we 13 going to be able to settle on the basis of knowing who -- how 14 many people are out there? The answer to that is clearly no 15 because we'll be speculating who actually is somebody coming 16 forward, who will be able to litigate. Well, of course, we 17 could litigate, but how is litigation going to advance the 18 cause. And the reason that we know the litigation is not going 19 to advance the cause, and the destination are not going to 20 advance the cause is they're not going to get in the way of 21 those things. Why? Because the very first thing that's going 22 to happen if we have a class is that we're going to have an 23 appeal and was the class properly certified.

24           Federal Class Action Rules were specifically amended 25 to nip interlocutory appeals precisely to determine before you

1 go over and assume the class for purposes of everything in the 2 case that the class is properly certified to begin with. The 3 fact that the Barbanti class doesn't change the picture, it
4 exacerbates the problem. We're now going to have a Washington 5 Class, (indiscernible) Washington is going to tell us what the 6 rest of the world looks like? And the Washington class, if it 7 were adopted or recognized here, would still be subject to the 8 same appeal. So, the idea of a class proposal is a proposal
9 that was designed inevitably to produce delay. And it's a 10 proposal that, Your Honor, frankly when we went back to this 11 before, I remember vividly, in March of 2002, there were 12 massive briefs, there were all kinds of people present here, 13 not here, but in Pittsburgh, for a very substantial argument on 14 this very issue. And what Your Honor said then in March, and 15 then again in April, and then again in May, all the same 16 (indiscernible) if we're successful, this is Page 64 of the 17 March 18th transcript, or if you're successful on the 18 scientific side, (indiscernible) you were actually making this 19 proposal for the first time (indiscernible), it doesn't matter 20 how many potential people are out there, they're not going to 21 be a class, they're not going to have claim. Then, again, in 22 April, I don't have to address it, it is the class 23 (indiscernible) shows me that the debtor is going to have 24 liability. We can then go on later on to exactly the same 25 proposition came up every single month, and every single month

1 Your Honor was totally consistent with just that if we went 2 forward and did this science exercise that you have now done,
3 and it turns out that you didn't find that there was a basis
4 for having liability, there was no point in pursuing the idea
5 of (indiscernible) proposal. And nothing has changed since 6 that time (indiscernible). One is that we have that 7 determination. And, two, is that we now have a plan that can 8 be -- we believe can be confirmed in a relatively short period 9 of time where the fact they're (indiscernible) a class does 10 exactly the opposite of what the term sheet contemplates and 11 introduces uncertainty and introduces delay and introduces a 12 factor that will create a cloud over this reorganization 13 because the condition in the term sheet is not met, and we now 14 have a stipulation where they're looking for a class and it's 15 just -- it's going to go nowhere.

16 That then brings us to the last proposal, which is 17 lift stay. This is the one that I suppose is the -- it wasn't 18 the most amazing proposal. List stay, of course, was not -- 19 this is not a new proposal. The lift stay was made by in '01, 20 back in '01. The proposal was let's go back to 21 (indiscernible), let's go back (indiscernible) of class actions
22 that was pending, I think it was in Boston. The lift stay 23 (indiscernible) while (indiscernible). And that effort was 24 injected. The lift stay motion was denied, and we were off to 25 have ZAI litigated in this case.

1 Now, it would be one thing if something ever happened
2 to litigate. It would be one thing if nothing happened in this 3 case and we simply went forward and we've now (indiscernible), 4 whatever it is. Seven years, the same basic claims and nothing
5 had occurred. That would be kind of (indiscernible).

6 But here, that's not what happened. Here we actually 7 went forward. Mr. Westbrook was appointed new counsel for the 8 plaintiffs. With respect to the ZAI trial, Mr. Scott obviously 9 also has been (indiscernible). There has been years of 10 litigation and millions of dollars spent, and we now have made 11 progress and we're pulling to make more progress.

12 So, what's the lift stay motion? The lift stays, oh, 13 now that we're on the edge of gaining a closure, and we have a 14 bird in the hand that says we want certainty with respect to 15 ZAI, we're going to go all the way back seven years to wind the 16 clock back and have a lift stay so that everybody else in the 17 country can argue that the determination that you made with 18 respect to those kind of plans has nothing to do with them and 19 their litigation could be completely unimpaired because they 20 weren't party to that (indiscernible). In a way of kind of 21 thumbing their nose in a process that they themselves have 22 participated in, participated actively, let's do it all over 23 again and pretend it never happened.

24 That's just -- that's just completely and utterly 25 responsible that they -- of the heavy duties and obligations

1 (indiscernible). So, I know we're going to have a lot of 2 detailed discussion, we're going to talk about whether the 3 Barbanti class was really on appeal, not only appeal, whether 4 the notice went out, didn't go out, we're going to hear, I'm 5 sure, a reincarnation of the argument about whether estimation 6 is the right way to take care of the issue of what these claims 7 are really worth, (indiscernible) asking for disallowance under 8 502©, all kind of other things. We can talk about all of that 9 (indiscernible).

10 But the fact that it's out there for Your Honor's 11 determination today is a basic fact about case management. And 12 it said, do we want to find out and bring the Court, the people 13 who are out there as plaintiffs, yes or no? Do we then want to 14 find out what the value of their claims is using whatever 15 vehicle is best suited and available for doing that? And do we 16 want to do it on the basis that keeps us on track of keeping 17 this case on course?

18 So, there's only one answer to that question 19 (indiscernible) every single other proposal is a way of 20 diluting it, delaying it, distracting from it. Why? Because 21 it's a game of leverage. And what it is the ZAI claimants want 22 is anything, anything of what it did, what it does or what is 23 necessary in order to bring us to the point where the agreement
24 that's been reached in principle becomes a reality. Delay, 25 distraction, different alternative proposals of all ways of 1 producing leverage (indiscernible).

2           So, those -- that's our position, and I hope we can 3 do more (indiscernible).

4           THE COURT: All right. Mr. Westbrook?

5           MR. WESTBROOK: Good afternoon, Your Honor.

6           THE COURT: Good afternoon.

7           MR. WESTBROOK: Mr. Bernick's short introduction used 8 exactly the 20 minutes that he said he'd take for his full 9 presentation. So, I hope his long response doesn't take 40 10 minutes.

11           Your Honor, I was around at the birth of asbestos 12 property damage litigation in 1981, '82, '83, 25 years ago. We 13 solved a lot of problems in those 25 years. This is the last 14 major asbestos property damage problem that there is, I 15 believe, and is going to be. And I'd like to be part of that 16 solution. We have different views as to how that solution can 17 come about.

18           I was with Arthur Miller at Harvard the other week
19 and he was giving a presentation. He said, we sometimes forget 20 what lawyers do is we solve problems, we don't just solve our 21 client's problem, we have to solve the other person's client's 22 problem.

23           How do we do that? Mr. Bernick talked today about 24 the straight line. Well, beauty's in the eyes of the beholder, 25 Your Honor. The straight line that started out for ZAI through

1 the science trial -- and, Your Honor, you know we reserve our 2 positions about the science trial proceedings, et cetera. But 3 the straight line that Your Honor set in the science trial 4 opinion was when you reached your conclusions, you said the 5 next thing we're going to do is see what claims are affected by 6 that, and the next thing we're going to do is see whether those 7 can be treated as a class action which will assist in this 8 bankruptcy. That was the straight line. We were all on the 9 straight line. In fact, when Mr. Restivo was here for Grace 10 last year, he said, Your Honor, you said that, we should get a 11 briefing schedule. We agreed we should do that. And then 12 there was some discussion about that there was some settlement 13 floating around. And, Your Honor, said, well, why don't you at 14 least look at that.

15           We looked at that. And as I told you last time, Your 16 Honor, we have made great structural progress. The problem is 17 in the dollars. But we were all on the straight line of the 18 ZAI opinion until the last status conference when Mr. Bernick
19 jumped off the curb. He said, well, there have been proposals 20 about that, and he was talking about your proposal, and he was 21 talking about our proposal, and he was talking about Mr.
22 Restivo's proposal for the further litigation, right along the 23 straight line of the ZAI science trial opinion. But he said, 24 we don't think now that that's going to be productive. We want 25 to now jump and zig-zag over the bar date.

1           We don't think, Your Honor, that that's the way it
2 should happen. We're happy that they finally, after seven 3 years, reach an agreement with Mr. Lockwood's clients. We're 4 happy to have that done. We'd like to get an agreement with 5 Grace ourselves, but the exigency of getting a resolution 6 should not trump the rights of this group of claimants who, 7 since the very early days of this litigation, Your Honor, have 8 been seeking to have the class motion heard, who, since the 9 early days of this litigation, have done nothing but tried to 10 move this ahead. And I think, you know, if there's any 11 implication that we have been trying to delay anything, it's 12 been our class motion that's been delayed, for good and valid 13 reasons, but we certainly are not coming in as Johnny Come 14 Lately's, after a bar date's been proposed, or on the eve of a 15 bar date and saying, wait a minute, let's have a science trial 16 opinion, let's look at the claims. Your Honor said we have to 17 look at the claims.

18           Now, Mr. Bernick has written up there or talked about 19 less than ten claims. He talked about, well, what we'll do now 20 is we'll go out with this notice and then the lawyers will come 21 in for these claimants, and they'll make their claims. What 22 claims is he talking about? We haven't determined that yet.

23           Mr. Bernick said that the Court has already 24 determined there's no liability. I don't think so, Your Honor, 25 not in the ZAI opinion I read.

1 THE COURT: No, I haven't determined there's no
2 liability. What I did determine is that there is no
3 unreasonable risk of harm, and that's what the science trial 4 was all about.

5 MR. WESTBROOK: Correct, Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: But that --

7 MR. WESTBROOK: Absolutely.

8 THE COURT: -- does, I think, limit, to a large 9 extent, the type of -- the issue I was attempting to get to was 10 what's this pool of people going to be, and I did not want to 11 go out with some class notice that would frighten particularly 12 elderly people in the event that there was no unreasonable risk 13 of harm. I am convinced that there is no unreasonable risk of 14 harm. And I do not see the need to frighten a large pool of 15 people with respect to property damage issues, this was a 16 property damage issue that we were addressing. So, we need to 17 figure out now how to find out who held -- who holds those 18 property damage claims.

19 MR. WESTBROOK: Absolutely, Your Honor. And to 20 determine that, and to determine if there are devices that we 21 can use that's going to assist in getting this whole thing 22 resolved.

23 Your Honor, I sent to Mr. Bernick last night -- and I
24 have for the Court, a notebook of some demonstrative aids, if I 25 can pass them to the Court.

1 (Attorneys conferring off the record)

2 THE COURT: Okay. Go ahead without them if you can,
3 Mr. Westbrook.

4 MR. WESTBROOK: Okay, Your Honor.

5 (Attorneys conferring off the record)

6 THE COURT: Okay. It might just be a method of -- 7 sometimes the way the tabs are created, but that's okay.

9 THE COURT: Go ahead, Mr. Westbrook.

10 MR. WESTBROOK: Your Honor --

11 (Attorneys conferring off the record/Pause)

12 MR. WESTBROOK: Your Honor, no good deed goes 13 unpunished. I sent them to Mr. Bernick last night.

14 MR. BERNICK: You asked and I --

15 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Bernick -- Mr. Westbrook, 16 just go ahead without them, please.

17 MR. WESTBROOK: Your Honor, it's helpful to review a 18 few facts. The traditional asbestos property damage 19 litigation, which began 25 years ago, took over 20 years to 20 come to fruition. The reason that happened was because the 21 claims, the asbestos property damage claims did not all accrue 22 at the same time. They began in the early '80's. But if the 23 claims were all ripe at one moment, they'd be barred by the 24 Statute of Limitations three or four, five years after the 25 first claims were filed.

1           We spent many years litigating with W.R. Grace, and 2 Appellate Courts deciding that property damage claims do not 3 accrue until there's been contamination of the building, and 4 until the building owner knows or reasonably should have known 5 about the contamination. The Court said these claims don't all 6 come forward at one time.

7           We have to keep that in mind when we're talking about 8 the ZAI claims because Mr. Bernick has talked about claims.
9 What is he talking about? Until we determine what these claims 10 are, what will the bar dates say? Well, in their notice, they 11 say claimant, if you -- if you need to know whether you should 12 file a claim, go to your attorney. Well, if the attorney gets 13 the court records, what's the attorney going to tell that 14 person, do you have a claim or not? We need to determine that.
15 That's not a delay in tactic, that's the straight line.

16           We also, Your Honor, have got to address this issue
17 of whether class certification is appropriate. Class 18 certification solves a lot of problems, due process and 19 otherwise. I note -- in Grace's mind, class certification is a 20 big bugaboo. But, Your Honor, class certifications were 21 commonplace in the traditional asbestos property damage cases.
22 They provided a vehicle to resolve great numbers of the claims, 23 the National Schools' Class Action, the College and University
24 Class Action, the Federal Lessors' Class Action, Michigan
25 Schools, Texas Schools, there weren't a -- that isn't something

1 alien.

2 Grace says, well, but class certifications are not 3 favored in the Bankruptcy Courts. Your Honor, if you look at 4 the cases, and I've read an awful lot of them in the last few 5 months, you'll find that with the exception of those cases, and 6 I've read an awful lot of them in the last few months, you'll 7 find that with the exception of those cases where class 8 certifications are sprung at the last moment or sprung toward 9 the end of the bar date process, that the courts have been very 10 receptive to class certifications when you have small 11 claimants, unknown claimants and claimants who, more likely 12 than not, are not going to be able to pursue a claim by 13 themselves.

14 Mr. Bernick talks about, well, the lawyers will get 15 in here and Your Honor said yourself a number of years ago, 16 these claimants aren't going to be able to get lawyers to come
17 in here for a $7,000 claim. You're going to have Joe Smith 18 from Pocatello, Idaho sending in his claim and then facing Mr.
19 Bernick who, on a good day, is a very, very, very formidable 20 opponent, on a bad day, he's a strong opponent. But that's who 21 they want to come up against. Without a class, without the 22 representation of a class, and Mr. Scott's going to talk some 23 more about the Barbanti situation, Your Honor. Without that, 24 the playing field is not level in any -- any respect. It's not 25 off the straight line, Your Honor. It's a logical issue the

1 Court said were going to determine. We want to get back on the 2 track. We'll move it along as fast as the Court wants to move 3 it along, but we think we need to get on the track.

4 Now, Your Honor is aware we have also asked that we 5 get -- get clarification, and this is somewhat in the 6 alternative. Before this thing got too far down the railroad 7 with people saying things like Mr. Bernick has now said, which 8 is the Court has determined the liability. In the -- in their 9 briefs, they say the core issue has now been resolved, there's 10 no need for Mr. Scott's Barbanti class because there are no 11 claims. The Court hasn't determined that, in our view. Before 12 we get too far down the road, or if that was going to be the 13 effect of the opinion -- Your Honor, we have the greatest 14 respect for the time the Court put into its opinion. We also 15 pointed out, Your Honor, that the history of asbestos property 16 damage is that the first look at an issue sometimes needs 17 enlightenment from the Appellate Courts. If the ZAI opinion is 18 going to be used, as Mr. Bernick has already started to wield 19 it as that cudgel, the issue's been decided. No need for this.
20 No need for a class.

21 We're willing, Your Honor, to stipulate that there 22 are claimants, and we'll bring a claimant forward, who has no 23 epidemiological evidence of it twice -- twice the risk, doesn't 24 have OSHA air levels, the things that the Court said showed 25 there was no unreasonable risk of harm, and test whether that

1 is, indeed, what makes a claim or doesn't make a claim.

2 We just don't think that it's fair to go all the way 3 down that road without that ever having been tested, and it to 4 be used by Grace as functionally final, but procedurally
5 interlocutory so we can never get an appeal.

6 THE COURT: Well, on that issue, Mr. Westbrook, 7 frankly, I don't think this Court is in a position of being 8 able to create Appellate jurisdiction for that reason. I just 9 don't think that's the function of the Court. I've issued an 10 opinion. I view that opinion as interlocutory. I view it as 11 interlocutory for the reasons that I expressed in that opinion.
12 I set up status conferences to attempt to address the issues 13 that I specifically left undecided in that opinion. That 14 happened, as I believe, back in 2006. The parties advised me 15 that they were attempting to settle. I thought that was a very 16 good thing. I still think that's a very good thing. I was 17 willing to hold off, attempting to address those other issues
18 which may be, you know, legally complex, I don't know. I 19 haven't yet had the status conference, so I don't know how 20 technical that would be.

21 But I do not think that this Court, particularly 22 after District Court has denied Appellate relief on an 23 interlocutory basis of the rulings that I've made that this 24 Court is in the position of basically dismissing a claim that 25 somebody asks me to dismiss for the purpose of creating

1 Appellate jurisdiction.

2           If, in fact, there are claims out there that meet the 3 test that I have set out in that opinion, and those claims are 4 voluntarily dismissed, that's that. They're voluntarily
5 dismissed. But this Court is not going to create a situation
6 in which I dismiss a claim at the request of a movant and then 7 have that movant turn around and say, but that was error to 8 dismiss it. I mean how do I do that? If the claimant says 9 voluntarily dismiss my claim, then it's voluntarily dismissed.
10 But I'm -- that's not the Court making an error, that's the 11 claimant deciding that the case -- the claim's going to be 12 voluntarily dismissed.

13           So, your clients can't have it both ways. Either 14 they agree that they have no right to a remedy and, therefore, 15 they dismiss their claim. Or else they have to wait the 16 outcome now because they've taken their shot at the appeal, and 17 the Judge -- the District Court has said, no, it's not ripe.

18           So, I think your best bet, folks, since this is my 19 little effort to opine, is to get back to that settlement
20 table. And I think you've got the basis for one. Section 21 524(g) affords even the benefit of a 524(g) injunction for 22 property damage claims. And this is a perfect situation for a 23 property damage type of claim.

24           I've looked at that Barbanti action. And Mr.
25 Bernick's brief, with respect to what it asks for, is on point.

1 It does not ask, in many instances, for injunctive relief.
2 It's asking, in many ways, for a fund to be set up so that 3 certain types of injunctive relief can then be funded by the 4 debtor. You know, it is a damages action. It is not an action
5 asking for injunctive relief. It's asking that the debtor fund 6 certain types of remedies.

7           If that's what the plaintiffs want, then negotiate
8 with the debtor. Put these claims -- in which case, you don't 9 need a bar date, and you don't need a class action. You can do
10 a class in the plan, which is the equivalent of a class action.
11 You can run it like a 524(g) trust, you can have people who 12 actually can substantiate that they have a damage issue into 13 the trust. You can run it through CDP. And you both have the 14 perfect solution to both of your problems: Mr. Bernick gets 15 what he wants, which is the debtor to be relieved of this 16 responsibility. And you folks get what you want, which is ZAI 17 claimants who actually have damages to be funded through 18 whatever type of trust you're able to negotiate. Now -- and 19 the class action structure through the benefit of the 524(g) 20 injunction. It works, folks. So, I don't understand what the 21 hold up is here.

22           MR. WESTBROOK: Your Honor, I think you've -- you've 23 put your finger on a very important point. And what we had 24 suggested was that as part of that process, the Court has 25 suggested that we have the non-binding bar date; that didn't

1 fly with Grace.

2 But we had suggested that as part of that exact 3 process, that in addition to whatever claimants come forward, 4 that we use the same types of estimation that they've just used
5 to settle the personal injury situation. Mr. Bernick says, 6 well, it would be statisticians. I can guarantee the Court
7 that our statistics, which Grace has, are much more robust, 8 much more statistically accurate on the homes that exist, and 9 the homes that had been demolished, and the pace of 10 renovations, than how many people are going to come forward 11 with mesothelioma in the year 2018. So, we are certainly 12 willing to do exactly what the Court has said, and we will take 13 -- certainly proceed on that basis, Your Honor.

14 Mr. Scott may want to speak a bit to Barbanti, and 15 also further on the estimation experts, Your Honor. But I am 16 certainly happy to proceed in that way, Your Honor. I think 17 that is the only type of solution that seems to work. After 25 18 years, I think it addresses the ZAI unique circumstances, and 19 also takes account of the fact of their property damage 20 character.

21 So, from my standpoint, Your Honor, I think that's a 22 marvelous suggestion.

23 THE COURT: Well, I do not want to be thought of as 24 having made a determination that it is homes that are 25 claimants. But nonetheless, some statistics as to homes that

1 have ZAI may be helpful, but I'm not sure that's the means all 2 and end all, Mr. Westbrook. I'm not making that kind of 3 finding.

4 But it does seem to me that Mr. Bernick is quite 5 correct about one thing: The Bankruptcy Code is not 6 necessarily a thing of beauty in all respects. But in this 7 particular regard, it works. And, folks, you're here. Your 8 motions for relief from stay are going nowhere. You're not 9 getting relieved from the premises of this Court. You are here 10 for a reason. The automatic stay is for the benefit of this 11 estate. You're going to stay here through this estate, you're 12 going to resolve these issues in this Court. So, that's the 13 way it's going to be.

14 MR. WESTBROOK: And we are looking for resolution.
15 Your Honor, I'll -- I'll reserve some time to come back after 16 Mr. Bernick come back, after my colleagues come back. Mr.
17 Baena has some things he wanted to say, and Mr. Scott.

18 THE COURT: Mr. Scott?

19 MR. SCOTT: I will be genuinely brief, Your Honor.

20 (Pause)

21 MR. SCOTT: May it please the Court. Darrell Scott, 22 I have been counsel for class of about 100,000 Washington
23 residents for the last seven years. And I have been on a 24 mission to convince the Court, if not the debtors, that the 25 only genuine way that they can achieve closure is by

1 recognizing that there are a number of claims which have not 2 yet accrued, but which can be represented, accounted for, and 3 discharged through equitable class remedies.

4           Recognition of a class of homeowners, not that they 5 have claims, but that they are asserting a claim, and 6 representation of that class precisely where Mr. Bernick places 7 the battleground, would permit this Court to determine and to 8 resolve that the claims are of a -- of a large community of 9 unknowing individuals who, under the substantive laws of their 10 own states, have claims which have not yet accrued, but which 11 can be accounted for, and for which programmatic remedies can 12 be provided, and then discharged. If that does not happen, 13 there will be an appeal. Because unlike Mr. Bernick, I don't 14 see the law, as he calls it, a game of leverage.

15           If those claims are not represented here, they will 16 be represented elsewhere. That is the duty I took on when I 17 was appointed as counsel to look out for the legal interests of 18 the Washington class.

19           I am not proposing a course that diverts from the 20 course that Mr. Bernick sets out. I am only arguing that what 21 he calls the tight channel -- I call it a tight noose, does not 22 exclude my clients.

23           Mr. Bernick says on appeal -- he threatened today, 24 just like he did the very time I spoke to the Court, Court, you 25 recognize that class, you know, we're going to appeal. It's

1 also true that when a Court does not recognize a class, there 2 is a right of appeal.

3           It is also the case that where that class claim is an 4 equitable claim for unified relief, and the Court does not 5 recognize that claim, it has denied that claim, and there is an 6 immediate right of appeal. I want to make clear the Barbanti 7 motion that this Court merely recognized my clients' right to 8 assert the claim, which is all we're doing, the Court's denial 9 of that right to assert the claim is not a class certification
10 question. It is a question as to whether or not that claim can 11 be brought.

12           So, if it is -- if the Court is of a mind that that 13 class should not be permitted to file its claim, then the 14 proper court -- course for this Court is to enter an order 15 disallowing that claim because it cannot be brought on an 16 individual basis.

17           THE COURT: Oh, no, wait. First of all, there's no
18 bar date. So, you know, we went through this before. Anybody 19 can file a proof of claim. There is no bar date. If your 20 client wants to file a proof of claim, the debtor will object 21 to it, we'll have litigation about it.

22           MR. SCOTT: And that --

23           THE COURT: I don't see --

24           MR. SCOTT: That's right where we are. We did file a 25 class proof of claim.

1 THE COURT: Right. And we have --

2 MR. SCOTT: We have asked for recognition of it, and 3 they have contested it.

4 THE COURT: And we -- we went through this several 5 years ago when we were attempting to determine the science
6 trial. And the issue at that point was that you wanted to pick 7 out only certain claims within a class, not the whole class, to 8 look at the science issues. And so that's what we did. We 9 looked at the science issues, rather than determining whether 10 or not all of the class within -- all of the claims within that 11 class would be covered at that time.

12 So, you know, we've been picking and choosing, sort 13 of gerrymandering what's -- to use since today is Election Day
14 in Pennsylvania, I guess that's a good word to use -- 15 gerrymandering these -- these issues to a certain extent 16 because it has hopefully been advancing the ball. Then what 17 happened is a year and a half has gone by while parties 18 allegedly have been attempting to settle whether there has, in 19 fact, been productive negotiation or not, I obviously don't 20 know. I hear from time to time that there is. I've seen 21 nothing that shows me that, in fact, there has been real 22 movement. But, nonetheless, I haven't yet also seen anybody
23 moving to get things back onto a litigation agenda. So, I'm 24 assuming hopefully that there still is some movement toward 25 settlement. I do not, in any way, want to jeopardize movement

1 towards settlement. I think these issues, in order to get 2 everybody onto the same page, and get a consensual plan
3 through, probably are going to have to be settled.

4           If we need to start to marching down a litigation
5 path, then, you know, let's march. Now that the personal 6 injury things are off my calendar, I actually have days free.
7 So, if we need them for ZAI, then fine. Let's put them on for 8 ZAI and we'll march to that tune instead of the personal injury 9 tune, if that's what we need to do.

10           But I think at this point, this discussion as to 11 whether a class proof of claim should be filed really is not 12 the focus that we should be having.

13           The focus that we should be having is whether or not, 14 rather than looking at a specific class proof of claim for 15 Washington residents, all ZAI claimants, whoever they are, 16 wherever they are, should not be treated in a similar fashion 17 by the debtors' estates. And probably the way to do that is 18 through a 524(g) mechanism which resolves the debtors' issues 19 and resolves all ZAI claimants' issues in a fashion that is the 20 equivalent of what both of you are asking for.

21           Now, does it require a bar date? I don't think so.
22 Maybe Mr. Bernick wants to argue that it does, I really don't 23 believe it does. I think the 524 issues can be adjudicated 24 without that need. I'm amenable to either way, it can be done
25 either way. And maybe that's an issue for, you know,

1 estimation purposes if it's an estimation issue that will have 2 to be undertaken.

3           If it's going to be an issue where the debtor, for 4 example, says, look, our pot has to be X dollars, and that's 5 all we can afford, and you folks can do what you want with it, 6 but this is what we do. And then ZAI goes and develops the 7 TBP's and that's how it works, okay. You've got lots of 8 flexibility in a 524(g) context. Why don't you go start 9 talking to each other and use it?

10           MR. SCOTT: I agree wholeheartedly with the Court's 11 view that this is resolved through 524(g). The question is who 12 are you attempting to exclude?

13           And the past point I was only trying to make was the 14 motion before this Court is a motion to recognize an existing 15 equitable class proof of claim, and we look forward to what the 16 Court's order is with respect to that pending --

17           THE COURT: Well, I don't --

18           MR. SCOTT: -- claim.

19           THE COURT: I have looked at that complaint, Mr.
20 Scott, and I don't really see equitable relief in that 21 complaint.

22           MR. SCOTT: And I --

23           THE COURT: That's the difficulty that I have.

24           MR. SCOTT: And I understand why the Court might 25 think that, having not had the benefit of the briefing as to

1 what the nature of these claims are and the law governing the 2 claim. That was an issue that was looked into over the course
3 of three-quarters of a year by Judge Cathleen O'Connor --

4 THE COURT: All right.

5 MR. SCOTT: -- who understands Washington's equitable 6 law. And if -- if it's the Court's ruling that it is not 7 equitable, I would -- that's -- that's fine, so long as the 8 Court enters an order so that we know what we're dealing with.

9 THE COURT: I am not entering an order. What I'm 10 doing is ordering you folks to a real settlement. And we're 11 going to discuss how, when and where that's going to take 12 place. Whether it needs to be supervised or whether it's going 13 to be something that you folks are going to undertake on your 14 own. And if, in fact, it results in -- it does not result in a 15 settlement, let me say it that way, then, Mr. Scott, we are 16 going to tee up this issue for reargument. Because, frankly, 17 it was argued way too long ago for me to have enough of a 18 recollection to undertake that issue again.

19 MR. SCOTT: And I agree with those sentiments 20 wholeheartedly.

21 THE COURT: Okay. And then we will address the class 22 proof of claim.

23 MR. SCOTT: I apologize for taking so much time.

24 THE COURT: No, it's no time, thank you, I appreciate 25 the issue. Okay. Who's -- Mr. Baena?

1 MR. BAENA: May it please the Court, Scott Baena on 2 behalf of the Property Damage Committee.

3 Your Honor, with that, I'm not sure that we want to 4 sit here now and debate the wisdom of a bar date and a notice
5 program line-by-line as we intended to object to. We had a 6 very limited position in all of this. We commented on the 7 usefulness of the bar date. We commented upon the ability to 8 effectuate a bar date through the notice program that has been 9 proposed by the debtor.

10 But it sounds like the Court would like to put that 11 to the side for a moment. And we're fine with that, Judge, 12 because we -- we likewise think that there's been an 13 intermission here. The Court did very clearly in your 14 published opinion say we were going to pause now and reflect on 15 where to go from here. And we -- we haven't had that 16 convocation amongst ourselves. It just has not occurred.

17 And bringing it before the Court by way of a motion 18 to establish a bar date, if anything, takes us further away 19 from whatever it is you are hoping to accomplish through that 20 process than bringing us closer.

21 I will say this, Judge, I want to disabuse the Court
22 of any misapprehensions. This is the first time we've appeared 23 before you on a matter since the announcement of the settlement 24 with personal injury. Let me make sure the Court is aware, we 25 -- we welcome that result on -- on many levels.

1 First, without it, we couldn't get through the rest
2 of this case, that's clear.

3 And secondly, this has been a collaborative process
4 throughout between the Committees, the Asbestos Committees.
5 We're happy that our brethren have reached that result, just as 6 I'm sure they're pleased that we resolved, in large part, 7 traditional property damage.

8 Our concern here, though, is that Zonolite was among 9 the triumvirate of asbestos claims at the outset of this case.
10 It was needing the same sort of attention and resolution as the 11 other sort of asbestos claims. We put it to the end of the 12 cue. And we just wish to assure that the question as posed by 13 Mr. Bernick isn't the question that we're really trying to 14 resolve here, which is how do we do all that to get to a 15 confirmation hearing in January? That's not the calculus here.

16 Zonolite shouldn't end up like a spectator at a 17 soccer game in South America where it gets crushed at the gate 18 where everybody is trying to get to the exit. They have the 19 same vital interests in the outcome of this case, they have 20 been abiding by everybody's direction to hold their horses.
21 But they -- they're not -- they shouldn't be abbreviated in the 22 resolution of their claims, and that's what we're concerned 23 about, the process. And we didn't see that those interests 24 were advanced by a bar date.

25 So, I'll save the argument -- the specifics about why

1 a bar date doesn't work because it sounds like we're not going 2 there today.

3 Thank you, Judge.

4 THE COURT: Mr. Hogan?

5 MR. HOGAN: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Daniel Hogan
6 on behalf of the Canadian ZAI claimants.

7 I've obviously listened to your comments over the 8 last hour, Your Honor, and it definitely changes the game, as 9 it were, in terms of my client's perspective on how to proceed.

10 I will tell you, however, Your Honor, that the 11 Canadian ZAI claimants are postured quite differently from 12 these American ZAI claimants in that there's been an ongoing 13 Canadian insolvency proceeding that has paralleled this 14 proceeding before the CCAA, I think you saw that in the orders
15 that I had attached. That proceeding, as part of its mandate, 16 includes certain injunctive relief against proceeding against 17 having class actions proceed in Canada. And that was really 18 one of the mandates for us to file our motion for relief.

19 We've got overlapping injunctive relief, some of 20 which relates to Grace Canada, some of which relates to the 21 U.S. debtors here. But that court has taken a keen and active 22 interest in these proceedings and has monitored those -- these 23 proceedings through reports that have been filed by 24 representative counsel, who are, in fact, my clients.

25 Your Honor, we're -- we're fairly late to this game

1 relative to the various other ZAI claimants in that at least 2 with regard to these motions, we weren't really even brought on 3 -- brought into this issue until April 9th when the Crown filed 4 an objection, and then April 10th when the debtor filed their 5 amendment to the -- to the bar date motion to include Canadian 6 ZAI claimants.

7 And so I just want to make the Court aware, to the 8 extent it's not aware, that we are late to this party, but we 9 have active claims.

10 Another distinction that I want the Court to be aware 11 of is that representative counsel in Canada, as appointed by 12 the CCAA, is counsel that is representative of both PD claims 13 and PI claims.

14 THE COURT: Yes, I know that.

15 MR. HOGAN: And that distinction's important. I -- I 16 just want to draw the Court's attention to it because there's 17 been dialogue in this case over the years with the PD 18 Committee, they've been approached, the PI Committee. But 19 because of how representative counsel in Canada is 20 characterized as representing both those interests, they could 21 never really get any traction with either the PD Committee or 22 the PI Committee. We were essentially that round peg trying to 23 be put into that square hole, and it hasn't really worked. So, 24 we've been on the outside to a certain extent.

25 And in part, that's what precipitated our motion for

1 relief. There is a -- there is a program in Canada. There is 2 the CCAA. And the plan that was last put forth by the debtor
3 articulated that there would be a Canadian litigation protocol 4 or procedure where a Canadian court would oversee the 5 determination of the Canadian Zonolite claims. And that's 6 what, in part, precipitated our motion for relief from the 7 automatic stay.

8           The Crown is inherently involved in this process
9 because of the claims that are being asserted in Canada aren't 10 just against W.R. Grace or Grace Canada, but also are against 11 the Crown. And as you know, there's been objections filed by 12 the Crown. Those -- those claims against the Crown are 13 intertwined with the claims against Grace. They're essentially 14 indemnification claims, claims that the Crown didn't -- didn't 15 foresee the risk, it didn't prevent the risk, it didn't abate
16 the risk. In effect, promoted the risk.

17           And -- and then in addition to that, Your Honor, 18 there are some individually situated groups or class of people
19 that are distinctly different from the American Zonolite
20 claimants. Inuit-speaking individuals, the French-speaking 21 individuals, which make of a large minority of the population 22 in Canada. And so these are some of the considerations and 23 concerns that Canadian Zonolite claims have, and that we wanted 24 to get before your Court -- the Court today because it appeared 25 that what was going to happen today is, in fact, what has

1 happened, which is that the Court's looking to determine some 2 sort of universal approach to deal with the Zonolite claims.
3 And I wanted to make sure that the Court was aware that we're 4 not postured quite the same as the various other ZAI entities.

5 THE COURT: I realize the Canadian claims are not 6 quite in exactly the same position, but at least as to the 7 property damage claims, I think the bargaining positions of the 8 parties can take one of -- you know, probably many approaches, 9 but two simple ones: Either that for property damage -- and 10 I'm speaking only to property damage right now. For property 11 damage purposes, you're going to be folded into the same type 12 of approach that the American ZAI claims will have. Or that 13 you're going to have a whole separate bargaining structure with 14 the debtor and/or litigation structure through the plan, 15 however the plan proponents and you agree. That will encompass 16 either PD and/or PI claims in Canada, or just PD claims.

17 And, you know, again, I hate to keep going back to 18 Federal-Mogul because it seems that that's all I've been doing 19 today, and I'm not trying to use that as the model for be all 20 and end all, but that case did, of course, have a foreign 21 component in which there had to be a separate type of plan 22 structure because of the foreign component claims. Now that 23 was much different from what you're talking about with just 24 this one small segment of the claims, but nonetheless, there 25 was the capability of taking a look at that one particular line

1 of claims from a foreign court, and then incorporating into the 2 American plan a structure based on that foreign claim.

3           So, you know, you folks have lots of bargaining room
4 if you'd just start talking to each other. And now that the PI
5 resolution is hopefully resolved, and the PD non-ZAI claims 6 seem to be more on track, I think it's time to do that.

7           MR. HOGAN: Your Honor, you mentioned Federal-Mogul.
8 It's interesting because my clients and I, we've discussed in 9 part potentially filing a motion to create a protocol for the 10 intercore communication between the CCAA and this Court. Is 11 that something the Court would entertain?

12           THE COURT: Oh, sure. I mean I entertain all 13 motions, but whether we need it or not, you know, I don't know.
14 I think -- I think what you really need is to talk to the plan 15 components. But, yes, I mean I'm always happy to talk to my 16 brethren on other courts, I always learn a whole lot from that.
17 So, yes, there's no -- no reason I wouldn't entertain such a 18 motion. But nonetheless, I really think the issue at this 19 point is that you probably can -- can encompass what all of you 20 need in the structure of the Canadian and the American cases.
21 And exactly how you choose to do that is going to have to be a 22 matter of some bargaining, notwithstanding the slight 23 difference -- well, maybe major difference in the comport of 24 the law that applies in Canadian cases as opposed to the 25 American cases.

1           The claims treatment issues are something you can 2 bargain. How we work out the confirmation process, I don't 3 think, will be a problem. Can't -- the Canadian Court and 4 American Courts have had very friendly relations in terms of 5 confirming plans, unlike some issues that happened in Federal-6 Mogul, that has not been the case with Justice Barliant 7 (phonetic) in other cases before.

8           MR. HOGAN: Your Honor, two other points I'd care to 9 make. They relate primarily to the notice program. One is 10 this, as we understand it, the Canadian Government, the Crown 11 has a significant database -- or database, which includes the - 12 - the -- I guess the property locations, for lack of a better 13 term, that are, in fact, -- that contain Zonolite.

14       (AUDIBILITY IS POOR - MR. BERNICK'S IS NOT AT A FUNCTIONING
15 MICROPHONE -- AT TIMES INDISCERNIBLE)

16           MR. BERNICK: Your Honor, if he wants to get into 17 that, I think that's actual (indiscernible). And -- but I 18 (indiscernible). I wonder why we're having that -- they were 19 happy, as we have said, to have changes to our notice of 20 program to accommodate facts and circumstance that are 21 (indiscernible). I don't know why it is important to have -- 22 to take before the Court on something that's not even really an 23 issue that's ripe.

24           THE COURT: Yeah, I don't think the issue about 25 notice is going to be ripe for today because I don't think

1 we're going to get that far, Mr. Hogan. So, maybe --

2 MR. HOGAN: Well, I caveated it. That's -- I just 3 wanted to bring that -- and the last point, Your Honor, relates 4 to a report that I understand that the Canadian Government is 5 getting ready to issue. It's a Health Canada Report. And as I 6 understand that report, it's going to attempt to address, not 7 unlike the science trial decision addressed, the nature and 8 extent of the potential harm caused by Zonolite in individuals' 9 homes in Canada. And I just wanted the Court to be aware of 10 that because it may impact not only the negotiations, but to 11 the extent that there is a notice program, how that would play 12 out.

14 MICROPHONE -- AT TIMES INDISCERNIBLE)

15 MR. BERNICK: (indiscernible) as we understand it, 16 we've been told the fall, can't wait for the report. We 17 understand that they have addressed the same issues and were -- 18 been apprized of that. We can't wait for the report to decide 19 what we're doing.

20 MR. HOGAN: Well, I was told it was June, Your Honor.
21 But June, the fall, whichever.

22 MR. BERNICK: The -- a lot of different times and I 23 think that they're being wise and deliberate about it, being 24 careful in their process. Again the fact remains, we can't -- 25 we can't (indiscernible).

1 THE COURT: Okay. Well, I think at this point in 2 time, what -- I'm going to go back to what I said earlier. I 3 believe that what would be the best course of events at the 4 moment is to have you folks start talking to each other and see 5 what can happen. Whether or not you can't accommodate some 6 settlement. You know, if, in fact, you can accommodate some 7 settlement, then notice of the settlement can certainly be 8 incorporated into a disclosure statement type of notice. It 9 won't take the separate notice, and the debtor can certainly 10 save millions of dollars in the notice program because it won't 11 have to do it twice. It won't have to do it separately through 12 ZAI notices, and separately through disclosure statement 13 notice. There will be some savings that will accrue because we 14 will be able to figure out a way to do -- to do what's in that 15 notice, some notice that will, I'm sure, satisfy the ZAI 16 claimants.

17 So, you know, to the extent that the debtor is short 18 on funds, several million dollars may be able to go into a ZAI
19 pot that would otherwise go into an advertising pot. So, why 20 don't you folks talk?

21 MR. HOGAN: Your Honor, I -- I'm prepared to address 22 and be responsive to that (indiscernible) remarks, but that -- 23 if that's what Your Honor wants to talk about, that's -- we'll 24 talk about it. But there some things that Your Honor ought to 25 be aware of because that is not my writing on a clean slate,

1 Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: All right.

3 MR. HOGAN: Your Honor, the Crown, I think has --

4 THE COURT: Mr. Monaco?

5 MR. MONACO: Good afternoon, Your Honor. Frank 6 Monaco for the Crown.

7 Your Honor, we filed objections to the various 8 motions because of our concerns about fair and equal treatment 9 for all ZAI claims, regardless of whether they're north or 10 south of the border.

11 I don't disagree with Your Honor's observation that 12 at least as to the PD claims, certainly there's no reason to 13 distinguish them -- Canadian claims from American claims.

14 I'd like to pick up on one thing that Mr. Bernick 15 alluded to in addressing Mr. Hogan's comments. I think it's 16 more accurate to say that the Canadian solvency proceeding is 17 not really parallel. It has ancillary jurisdiction --

18 THE COURT: Okay.

19 MR. MONACO: -- and primary jurisdiction over Grace 20 Canada.

21 THE COURT: All right.

22 MR. MONACO: And it's important, Your Honor -- I'm 23 going to stress to the Court that it's important that the 24 parties and the Court get this right because pursuant to 18.6 25 of the CCAA, which is the Insolvency Act in Canada, that the

1 decisions made here be fair and equitable so that that Court
2 can give comity, and we don't have problems down the road.

3 So, we are concerned that the treatment of all 4 claims, including the Canadian claims, be fair and equitable.

5 THE COURT: Mr. Monaco, I hope to be fair and 6 equitable --

7 MR. MONACO: I'm not --

8 THE COURT: -- with respect to the treatment of all 9 claims.

10 MR. MONACO: Your Honor, I'm not insinuating
11 otherwise.

12 And Mr. Hogan did -- he did inform the Court that 13 there are existing orders appointing the class representative, 14 as well as orders staying any actions until October 1st of 15 2008.

16 Your Honor, we are both a direct claimant and have 17 claims for contribution indemnification. The direct claims 18 result from our purchase of ZAI, which we installed -- the 19 Government installed in reserve housing and military base 20 housing, and we have incurred expenses in remediating by having 21 to seal attics.

22 We also have contribution and indemnification claims 23 as a result of being a co-defendant with Grace in the various 24 class actions that have been currently stayed.

25 Your Honor, I'd just like to sum up. What we are

1 seeking is the Court's guidance to have the Canadian treated in 2 this proceeding. I think today's hearing is a positive 3 development from the Crown's perspective, and hopefully the 4 arguments and the positions developed here will assist the 5 Court in doing so.

6 THE COURT: Well, Mr. Monaco, is the Canadian 7 proceeding look to treat the Canadian claims through the Grace 8 Canada proceeding? Or does the Grace -- does the Canadian 9 proceeding -- I guess is that mandated? Or if there is a fair 10 and equitable treatment in this proceeding here, will the 11 Canadian claims process permit the Canadian claims to be 12 treated through a agglomeration of cases --

13 MR. MONACO: Well --

14 THE COURT: -- including through the U.S. proceeding?

15 MR. MONACO: I think -- and my co-counsel can correct 16 me if I'm wrong, but I think the Canadian Court is looking to 17 this Court in the first instance to deal with these issues.

18 THE COURT: Okay.

19 MR. MONACO: I think that's -- that's the position of 20 the Canadian Court.

21 THE COURT: All right.

22 MR. MONACO: Because it's an ancillary court.

23 MR. BERNICK: And we believe that's -- that's 24 absolutely correct.

25 THE COURT: Okay.

1 MR. MONACO: And, Your Honor, one other thing I
2 wanted to confirm what Mr. Bernick said about the risk
3 assessment. It's our understanding it will be issued in the 4 fall, not June.

5 THE COURT: All right.

6 MR. BAENA: Just one comment. Scott Baena on behalf
7 of PD.

8 Just -- just for the record, Judge, I'm not sure that 9 it's ancillary or a parallel proceeding, and nothing I heard
10 today forecloses that debate. Remember, Judge, Grace Canada
11 was formed days before this case was filed. And it was formed 12 for purposes of commencing a proceeding in Canada.

13 FEMALE SPEAKERS: That's absolutely incorrect.

14 MR. BERNICK: Your Honor, I -- I -- why do we have to 15 get into this today? Mr. Baena is in a very difficult position 16 with respect to the different plaintiffs that now constitute 17 the PD claimants. Is this a statement that's being made on 18 behalf of Mr Spites (phonetic), who's got Canadian claims that 19 haven't been settled?

20 MR. BAENA: Excuse me, Judge. I was in the middle of 21 a presentation.

22 MR. BERNICK: But I have a concern that I want to 23 raise about what it is, what --

24 MR. BAENA: Raise it.

25 MR. BERNICK: -- capacity Mr. Baena is speaking.

1 MR. BAENA: Your Honor --

2 THE COURT: Do you represent the Property Damage
3 Committee.

4 MR. BAENA: I represent the Committee, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: All right.

6 MR. BAENA: And I am not able to answer any of those 7 questions here today. And my whole point is that it's not so 8 clear what the state of that proceeding is. And I don't think 9 any discussion here today forecloses what it was.

10 THE COURT: All right. Did -- I -- Mr. Baena, I'm 11 sorry. Is that because you have some disagreement that the 12 Canadian Court is looking to this Court in the first instance 13 to resolve the claims? I just am not clear what the --

14 MR. BAENA: I'm not -- you know, we're hearing all 15 sorts of versions about the interaction between the two 16 proceedings, and it's just not clear. It's not been 17 demonstrated what the interactive nature of those proceedings 18 are.

19 THE COURT: Oh, okay.

20 MR. BAENA: That's all.

21 THE COURT: All right.

22 MR. BAENA: Remember, this was all under the Rules
23 that existed prior to the amendments -- the BAPCPA amendments, 24 and it was different then to -- you know, to commence an 25 ancillary proceeding.

1 THE COURT: Yes.

2 MR. BAENA: You had to commence one here. They 3 didn't commence one here. That -- that's the problem.

4 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Bernick?

5 MR. BERNICK: Yes. I -- I want to deal with the -- 6 we used to say that the -- well, I want to deal with the kind 7 of -- it's not a gorilla, but it's an animal of some not 8 insignificant dimension that's in the room. And it's been put 9 in the room by suggestions that have been made repeatedly by 10 Mr. Westbrook and by others, and indeed, for that matter, by 11 Your Honor's response to it, which is that it's settlement. It 12 is, you know, how to resolve this thing. And the suggestion 13 that's been made by Mr. Westbrook is that things were kind of 14 going along and they were all honky-dory and Mr. Restivo is in 15 there say, amen, amen, amen, and then all of a sudden, it got 16 off track.

17 THE COURT: I don't think I said any of that.

18 MR. BERNICK: No, Your Honor didn't say any of that.
19 But that's what was suggested to Your Honor. And I -- Your 20 Honor has raised the question, well, and properly so, what was 21 happening during this whole period of time when Your Honor was 22 prepared to go forward and you ask for the status conference to 23 say what's going to happen here, and there was no real status 24 conference because the report back to Your Honor is that we're 25 having discussions. And will now assure Your Honor of a few

1 things. I suppose you'll have to take them with a grain of 2 salt in the same fashion that I'm kind of asking that Your 3 Honor take with a grain some of the other observations that 4 have been about the same process. And maybe the very fact that 5 we have differing views is exactly what one of the problems was 6 with the process.

7 But all of the things that I think Your Honor 8 expected that would be done during this interim period or 9 thought that would be done were done. That is there were 10 active settlement discussions involving Mr. Westbrook, 11 involving Grace, all kinds of different things explored. Those 12 active discussions continued all the way up and through the 13 process that led us to have a term sheet with respect to the 14 prospective plan components.

15 Number two, that process was driven by W.R. Grace, 16 the debtor in this case. It was not driven by me. It was not 17 driven by Mr. Restivo. It was driven by the folks who are 18 sitting here for Grace today, and it was the client that 19 decided what to do and what not to do. This is not a question 20 of lawyers and who's a lawyer here, and this and that and the 21 other. And that kind of observation, frankly, doesn't give 22 credit to the client for being the decision maker. And 23 obviously it doesn't give credit to us either.

24 But in any event, that's not going to get us 25 anywhere. The -- it was Grace, it was and is Grace that's in 1 control and that remains so.

2           Those discussions, to Your Honor's point, have 3 included various kinds of vehicles, including potential 4 inclusion in the plan that has been outlined. We tried very 5 hard to get ZAI into that plan. We tried to get everybody into 6 that plan. And as a consequence, all the different ideas for 7 how to do that, 524(g), claims facilities, criteria, you name 8 it, all the people who were involved in that -- I know that Mr.
9 Lockwood would agree, and I think probably Mr. Westbrook, as 10 well, very versed in different ways at trying to get to a 11 resolution. So, all of that was put on the table, it was all 12 very clear -- carefully gone through.

13           It didn't work. It didn't come to fruition. And I 14 venture to say that one of the major reasons it didn't come to 15 fruition is money. It's financial. A, what money is there?
16 And, B, what money really should be allocated to this given the 17 very substantial problems that do pertain to these claims.
18 These are claims that had no track record of success at all.
19 Not one dollar paid. And, in fact, the Barbanti litigation, to 20 the extent there was a preliminary injunction, came out against 21 the claimant. So, the idea that we should just pay, well, what 22 are we paying for?

23           So, it's a financial issue, and it's a merits issue, 24 and it's a number of people issue, number of claimants issue.
25 That's what the hang-up is. It's not 524(g) and can there be a

1 facility. It is what are the economic dimensions of that 2 facility so that we can go on and deal with all the other 3 matters that are before the Court in this case, and all the 4 other constituencies that have to be taken care of, which then 5 brings me to the following point.

6           Your Honor can order that there be a mediation. And 7 we can get a mediator, and we can all meet. And I know that 8 Your Honor is doing that with respect to the traditional PD
9 claims. And if Your Honor does that, we will be sure to go 10 ahead and have that mediation.

11           It will be my prediction that that mediation will be 12 -- will have a tremendous handicap at the outset. And the 13 handicap will be that all of the different vehicles that are 14 out there have already been considered. And the other -- the 15 other handicap that will be out there is that, again, the 16 predicates for the disagreement before will not have changed, 17 which are financial and are numbers of claimants. That's what 18 the -- that's what the drivers were of the failure to reach 19 agreement before. Why should we expect that they're going to 20 change now that we've got a mediator.

21           And that's what then brings us to the need that we 22 really have. We need -- we have a need for two basic things, 23 and I think that there's a reaction to the fact that we've 24 asked for a bar date. But the bar date, as I can see it, is 25 the only way that we're going to get what we need. What we

1 need is data, reliable data. How many claimants are there?

2 Not extrapolations, not predictions, hard data.

3           In fact, when we went down the road with the 4 estimation of personal injury claims, you'll remember, I know 5 you could never forget, that what drove the greatest amount of 6 time in that case was not the statistical models, although they 7 were very labor intensive. It was getting the data, including 8 through a bar date, including through the submission of a lot 9 of information, that's what then ultimately enabled us to get 10 to the point where we could see what the other side of the coin 11 was.

12           Now, we're not asking that that be done again. We're 13 not asking to have a whole bunch of fancy submissions. And, 14 indeed, you know from the bar date proposal that we made, the 15 claim form is utter simplicity. What we want to get is who are 16 they? Who are the claimants? That is a huge piece of missing
17 data. And when Your Honor suggested that maybe -- and you 18 suggested before, why is there really a difference in view as 19 between both sides? Why can't everybody agree that that's 20 important data to have? The difficulty is that we -- we then 21 said, well, gee, maybe there's a way to think about doing 22 that. What came back on the other side was experts and kind of 23 doing a survey, a survey, or, you know, let's take a telephone 24 pole, we could do a survey in the -- surveys are fraught with 25 problems. They're not hard data, they're not reliable data

1 because what you get depends upon what you ask for. We've 2 litigated surveys in many, many different cases. That's a 3 recipe for more disagreement and for more posturing.

4           What we want is hard underlying data, and the only 5 way to find out who's a claimant is to ask who's a claimant.

6           The second thing that we need -- and we don't think 7 that that's actually going to be very expensive to accomplish, 8 and will give us data that is not only good for purposes of 9 estimation, but you can actually then use to process these 10 claims if the claims ultimately are presented for payment.
11 We'll know who it is that's a claimant, so it's not wasted 12 money.

13           The second thing that we need is a parallel path.
14 The lesson of this case generally, indeed, in each and every 15 phase of this case, that the only way to get to resolutions is 16 to have a parallel path for litigation or estimating or 17 whatever it's going to be. Because it's only when you've got 18 that path that people really can make the hard choices about 19 what it is that they want to do. And that parallel path is 20 critical, not only for purposes of producing resolution of ZAI, 21 that parallel path is important for keeping us on track for the 22 estimation, for the -- for the confirmation process generally.

23           And what I'm very concerned about is that no matter 24 how short of time we get involved in some kind of ordered 25 process of mediation, even if it's 30 days, 45, 60 days, it's

1 30, 45, 60 days off a period of time to confirmation. And,
2 therefore, when we come back and say, well, if we want to 3 settle, which we do, I put it right up there on the board, we 4 want to settle this case, we've always wanted to settle this 5 case, we want to settle, we want to settle. I'll say it a 6 zillion times, we don't need a mediator to tell us that we want 7 to settle the case. We understand that. We want to settle the 8 case.

9 But if we want to get the case resolved or estimated 10 so that we can get to a confirmation that keeps this package 11 together, and keeps this case on track to get resolved, 12 something's got to happen. And by doing the mediation, we 13 aren't going to change the levers from making that happen. So, 14 we do think we need the bar date, and we do -- we think we need 15 a process that says following the bar date, we're going to be 16 back here in court if we can't reach agreement to actually do 17 think that may not all be, you know, pleasant and ducky, but 18 they've got to get done because there's way too much to lose in 19 this case. We can't bank on a cooperative settlement of 20 process alone to get us to where we want to be.

21 I think that the bar date has been out there. We 22 moved for a bar date before. We put together a whole notice
23 program that essentially wasn't contested in terms of process
24 and reach before. The notice itself was -- there was a debate 25 about the notice. The notice that we got here is pretty much

1 the same as the notice we had before.

2 Remember the notice issue before was not the 3 description or anything, just did you -- do you include some 4 kind of statement about the risks, et cetera, et cetera? Well, 5 we're over that one now. So, the content of the notice
6 shouldn't be a problem. So, that's why we're here.

7 And what I would propose to the Court is let's get 8 the bar date set. Let's get the notice out. If Your Honor 9 wants to -- we have greater satisfaction that all steps to 10 resolve the case are being taken, we are completely happy to 11 have some kind of mediated process. I say that not knowing 12 whether my client's going to agree with it, but I think that 13 they will. That's not an issue. But we've got to have data 14 and we've got to have a parallel track.

15 When it comes to the Canadians, I -- you know, I'm 16 not sure what the issue really is. We are happy to have the 17 Canadians included in the process, indeed, there were very 18 active, advanced settlement discussions with Canadian ZAI
19 claimants that broke down. But we actually expected that there 20 was going to be a deal with ZAI claimants in Canada. There's 21 no reluctance to proceed with that, we'd be happy to have that 22 process take place.

23 In Canada, we believe that it really is parallel.
24 That they -- we can set up a process in Canada that is parallel
25 to what we have here. So, we have a Canadian bar date, people

1 come in in response to the Canadian bar date. We don't have to 2 is there and scratch through a bunch of records to figure out 3 whether the stuff is still there. We'll know whether we have 4 claimants or not. Totally on board with doing that in Canada.
5 That may have to lag a little because the other one is a little 6 bit further advanced.

7 But would really, really strongly urge Your Honor, 8 now that we're here, let's not let go of the schedule here.
9 Let's keep on track, let's get the bar date done, let's get it 10 done. We'd ask the Court issue the order so that we can have 11 the notice issue within whatever it is, 30 days, and get the 12 process going. And we can have all the discussions that 13 anybody would want.

14 The only thing that gets lost in that process is the 15 estate spends the money to get the bar date notice out. And 16 given where we are in this case, that's not insignificant
17 money, but it's money that's been proven three different times 18 to have yielded results when it comes to litigation in this 19 case. That is money that is extremely well spent.

20 So, Your Honor, I don't know if you -- I know that 21 we're tied up for time, but we would be very, very reluctant to 22 have this bar date issue deferred. We believe -- and if Your 23 Honor needs to set a special time for a further proceeding, the 24 debtor very, very strenuously and vigorously, in service of 25 getting to confirmation in January, consistent with the terms

1 sheet, wants there to be a bar date.

2 Your Honor then can decide what it is that we're 3 going to do with the information. But we've got to have a bar 4 date.

5 THE COURT: Okay. Go ahead, Mr. Westbrook -- just a 6 second.

7 (The Court conferring off the record with staff)

8 MR. WESTBROOK: No, Your Honor, and we're not -- 9 we're not intruding on that. I have two minutes, Your Honor, 10 that's all. And I would not stand except Mr. Bernick --

11 THE COURT: Well, Mr. Westbrook, excuse me. What 12 else are we going to be doing after this issue?

13 MR. WESTBROOK: Going home.

14 THE COURT: Going home?

15 MR. WESTBROOK: I wouldn't -- I wouldn't cancel a 16 cab, Your Honor, I have two minutes.

17 THE COURT: Anybody else speaking after this?

18 UNIDENTIFIED ATTORNEY: Just one comment after that,
19 Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Cancel the cab.

21 UNIDENTIFIED ATTORNEY: Don't say that, then there 22 will be more.

23 (Laughter

25 THE COURT: Go ahead, Mr. Westbrook.

1 MR. WESTBROOK: I only -- I only rise because Mr.
2 Bernick felt it necessary to put his toe into the stream of 3 settlement negotiations and a little bit behind the scene. I 4 will say only one thing about that, Your Honor, that is that we 5 were not involved -- we were not invited to the last round of 6 settlement negotiations.

7 In fact, as -- as those on Grace's side know, perhaps 8 not Mr. Bernick, that a certain PI lawyer who was at those 9 negotiations new ZAI's positions and parameters on which we 10 could resolve it and his report was that he was not able to 11 engage Grace in any discussions. That's all I'll say on that 12 point, Your Honor. I didn't want to leave any impression that 13 we haven't been trying to get this resolved.

14 Your Honor --

15 MR. BERNICK: Maybe he's at fault because that's not 16 what (indiscernible).

17 MR. WESTBROOK: I don't want to get into that, Your 18 Honor.

19 THE COURT: All right. Well, in any event, it's 20 water over the dam at this point. At this point in time, the 21 PI issues are resolved. So, the debtor has a pretty good 22 handle with respect to the environmental liabilities it's been 23 settling and what context the environmental liabilities are 24 left to settle. It knows pursuant to the PI settlement what 25 property damage issues are out there. I don't know

1 specifically what its estimate for how much it's going to have 2 to reserve to take care of those property damage issues are, 3 but obviously it's got some amounts in mind.

4           So, the reality is that in order to keep the debtor
5 functioning and contributing to the trust and operating a 6 business and making money, there are always limitations on 7 resources. You know, there has to be limitations on resources
8 and people have to take haircuts. It just has to happen.
9 People don't get paid lots of dollars in bankruptcy dollar 10 terms.

11           So, to be realistic about this, people have to 12 realize it's not going to be a huge pot of money that is going 13 to pay a lot of claims when the Court's already determined 14 there isn't an unreasonable risk of harm, but obviously if 15 you've got, at some point in time, to remediate a home, there 16 is going to be a cost involved. And to the extent that 17 somebody can show that it's ZAI in a home and there will be a 18 charge, there is going to be a cost.

19           So, if you want to do a notice program as the 20 Barbanti class action talks about, there will be a cost. If 21 you want to do a remediation type program, there will be a 22 cost. If you want to try to do a combination program, there 23 will be a cost. But it's finite dollars, that's the problem, 24 it's finite dollars.

25           Now, you know, you've got -- there are only so many

1 dollars that can go around. If you want to get this settled, 2 you'll get it settled. If the case ends up in liquidation,
3 there isn't going to be anything for anybody. So, you know, 4 where are you going, folks? Why are you not sitting down at 5 the table and having some meaningful settlement discussions? I 6 don't get it.

7 MR. WESTBROOK: We certainly understand, Your Honor,
8 and we're certainly willing to do that. And I will only say 9 that as to the bar date issue, if we get back on track -- if 10 things should break down, that we do think that the Court 11 should stay on track with the ZAI opinion, claims next, the 12 class certification issue, and we can get those litigated. But 13 we're willing to also engage the Canadian folks in some 14 discussions, Your Honor, and see if we can put something 15 jointly together. We think Your Honor's (indiscernible) idea 16 is maybe the way that we can finally cracked.

17 THE COURT: All right. With respect to -- let me 18 address one thing, Mr. Westbrook, with respect to the 19 possibility of a bar date. Because it seems to me that the 20 debtors' construct of the bar date does not foreclose the 21 concept of class action proof of claims, class -- pardon me.
22 Class proofs of claim either. And so if I provide some very 23 brief period of time without issuing a bar date notice to try 24 to get this settled, and it will be brief, then I am inclined 25 to think that a bar date probably needs to be set. And I think

1 it probably has to be set before some class notice goes out. I
2 am still of a mind that perhaps some class notice of 524(g)
3 cannot be utilized, may be appropriate, but I think it's going 4 to have to be in conjunction with or after some bar date 5 notice. Because I think the notice program that the debtor is 6 contemplating -- and I'm not making findings about it, but in 7 construct, should work.

8 Now, for Canada, it may need some tweaks. The debtor 9 can work with the Canadians in terms of the language issues and 10 so forth. But in the United States, for the most part, it's a 11 pretty extensive bar date program.

12 So, it should be sufficient to advise people that if 13 they want to take a look or have somebody do it for them at 14 what's in their attic, and find out whether they've got this 15 particular type of insulation there, that they've got to file a 16 claim. And depending on what happens with respect to those 17 claims, then it may still be appropriate to have a class or 18 classes, I'm not sure at this point in time how all that would 19 work to address the issues.

20 So -- but I still think that it may be worth first, 21 starting with the bar date. So, while you're out talking, I 22 think you folks had better perhaps include that in your 23 discussions.

24 MR. WESTBROOK: We will, Your Honor. And we 25 understand that before the Court would do that, we'd have an

1 opportunity to come talk about all the things Mr. Baena wants 2 to talk about --

3 THE COURT: Yes, sir.

4 MR. WESTBROOK: -- and all the other issues we have 5 about a bar date.

6 THE COURT: Yes, sir.

7 MR. WESTBROOK: Thank you, Your Honor.

8 THE COURT: Mr. Hogan?

9 MR. HOGAN: Briefly, Your Honor. It just relates to 10 the notice component of the bar date. And that is the debtors 11 indicated that they vigorously want a bar date set. They also, 12 in their application for that bar date, indicated that they 13 preferred actual notice. And they also requested that as to 14 individual plaintiffs' attorneys that had information regarding 15 the location of those individuals, that they be mandated to 16 bring that information forward. And I just wanted to ask that 17 that -- that that applied to the Canadian Government, as well, 18 insofar as we understand that they have a significant database
19 that represents exactly which properties have Zonolite in it 20 and that would be very useful from the Canadian Zonolite 21 claimants' perspectives.

22 THE COURT: Mr. Monaco?

23 MR. MONACO: Your Honor, I had not intended to get 24 into this kind of detail, but I feel compelled to respond.
25 First of all, Your Honor, it's going to have to be a best

1 efforts type of -- we don't want to be the subject of -- of an 2 order that compels us to file things. We need to use best 3 efforts to the extent that we are going to provide these 4 documents.

5           The other -- the other aspect of this Your Honor 6 should be aware of is that we do have information and it is 7 voluminous and it is located in a number of different areas, 8 and it would take us a very long time to get it together. So, 9 the parties need to understand that, and that's something we'll 10 have to deal with in terms of the detail of any kind of bar 11 date order.

13 MICROPHONE -- AT TIMES INDISCERNIBLE)

14           MR. BERNICK: Your Honor, if I could add as a 15 facilitator of the process (indiscernible).

16                               (Laughter)

17           THE COURT: That was sweet, Mr. Westbrook.

18           MR. BERNICK: When we tried the police case many 19 years ago, you said the same thing.

20                               (Laughter)

21           MR. BERNICK: If we could, I think, just advocate in 22 favor of having the discussion about what's the real world, I 23 think to the extent that we've got information so that we can 24 provide better notice then that's fine. But I also agree that 25 we're operating within a time frame here that doesn't enable us

1 to uncover every single (indiscernible) out there and due
2 process doesn't require it. It requires (indiscernible).

3 So, what I would suggest is that we have a three-way 4 conversation, if that's okay with you guys, and see what we can 5 work out. I think everybody's aiming in the right direction.

6 MR. MONACO: That's fine, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: That I agree with. You know, I think -- 8 I'm not -- I do not want to hold up a notice program of any 9 type, including for disclosure statement and plan purposes 10 because you're going to have the same issue in terms of getting 11 notice out to everyone at that time, even if it's not for ZAI 12 special notices anyway. So, I think at this point, we're going 13 to have to have this discussion anyhow.

14 So, I think a reasonable notice process is all that 15 is required for actual -- for a search to find actual claimant, 16 perhaps, Mr. Monaco, your client might be able to get started 17 on putting together what types of processes would be 18 appropriate to identify claimants, to the extent that it can.
19 And that may be a good thing for, Mr. Westbrook, you and Mr.
20 Scott, to the extent that you know available ZAI claimants and 21 known claimants, too. Because one thing I am not going to do 22 is back off any order that I make this time that says that 23 claimants have to provide information to the debtor. That 24 caused way too many problems the last time with respect to the 25 personal injury issues. So, if there is an order that goes out

1 that says that to the extent that a package goes out and 2 someone provides it a client, that information has to be 3 provided to the debtor or the debtor doesn't have to give 4 actual notice, we're going to have that discussion at the next 5 hearing, and that order is not going to be modified. So, if 6 anybody's going to have an objection to telling the debtor who 7 the actual clients are so that the debtor provides actual 8 notice, tell me about it at the next hearing. Because right 9 now, that seems like a darn good idea based on my view 10 originally and the District Court opinion, looking at the 11 actual notice issues last time.

12 MR. BERNICK: Can we talk maybe about the timing
13 here? I think --

14 THE COURT: Yes.

15 MR. BERNICK: -- (indiscernible).

16 THE COURT: Yes, that's what I wanted to get to, too.
17 Do you folks really need a mediator? Or can you sit down 18 together and have a discussion with the business folks involved 19 and say, look, this is our data, this is what we think the 20 universe of houses, claims, whatever it is that you're going to 21 provide is, and why we think we have a -- I'm just going to 22 pick a wild number -- you know, a database of 500,000 homes
23 that have ZAI, which means a potential claimant base of, you 24 know, a million people that may, at some point over the next 50
25 years, provide claims against Grace, and Grace will provide us

1 -- say, you know, this is it, X dollars is all we have. You 2 can do what you want with it, but this is what we provide.
3 However it's going to work. Can you sit down and do that 4 together, or do you need a mediator?

5 (AUDIBILITY IS POOR - MR. WESTBROOK IS NOT AT A FUNCTIONING
6 MICROPHONE -- AT TIMES INDISCERNIBLE)

7 MR. WESTBROOK: Your Honor, I've settled many, many 8 cases for Grace for a lot of dollars over the years, and --

9 (MR. WESTBROOK APPROACHES MICROPHONE)

10 MR. WESTBROOK: -- up to this point, we've always 11 been able to get this done. In this particular circumstance, 12 Your Honor, I think there might be some benefit of having a 13 respected mediator there who can either tell us we're crazy 14 about something, or perhaps tell Grace that it's off base on 15 something. If they'll listen. I mean if they're not going to 16 pay any attention anyway, don't waste the money on a mediator.
17 But we're certainly willing to do it either way. But I would -- 18 if I were asked to choose, I'd say I'm tipping slightly for 19 getting a distinguished mediator who can talk some sense into 20 both sides.

21 THE COURT: Okay. Well, that's the key. Is the 22 other side willing to listen, too?

24 MICROPHONE -- AT TIMES INDISCERNIBLE)

25 MR. BERNICK: I'm prepared, and Grace is prepared to 1 accept the idea.

2 UNIDENTIFIED ATTORNEY: We're prepared.

3 MR. BERNICK: They're all -- they're prepared, 4 they're ready to go, laws a little different in Canada. But 5 the -- I think everybody's -- I don't get any sense that people
6 are not proceeding here in good faith, Your Honor. I think 7 there's a difference of opinion. If they -- if they would feel 8 more comfortable having a mediator, we don't have a problem
9 with that as long as we can get it done. If it doesn't alter 10 the time table -- we don't think we need a mediator, but we're 11 happy to accommodate them --

12 THE COURT: All right.

13 MR. BERNICK: -- (indiscernible).

14 THE COURT: Are you folks going to be able to agree 15 on a mediator who can get up to speed rapidly?

16 MR. WESTBROOK: I don't think that would be a point 17 of disagreement, Your Honor. We could probably agree on 18 somebody.

19 THE COURT: Mr. Hogan, do you think so?

20 MR. HOGAN: I think we could, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Bernick?

22 MR. BERNICK: I would hope, yes.

23 THE COURT: All right. Then how much time, three 24 weeks?

25 UNIDENTIFIED ATTORNEY: That sounds fine.

1 UNIDENTIFIED ATTORNEY: Fine, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: I mean you've been talking for, you know,
3 nearly two years. So, it seems to me -- I know you haven't,
4 Mr. Hogan, but --

5 MR. HOGAN: Well, not ZAI, Your Honor, but is it 6 three weeks to have the mediation or three weeks --

7 THE COURT: Yes.

8 MR. HOGAN: Okay, I just wanted to be clear on that.

9 THE COURT: Three weeks to have the mediation.

10 MR. HOGAN: So, the agreement as to the mediator's 11 going to have to happen within the next week, I would say.

12 THE COURT: Oh, I would say by tomorrow.

13 MR. HOGAN: Yeah.

15 THE COURT: Yes.

16 MR. BERNICK: That's -- that's fine.

17 THE COURT: Mr. Monaco?

18 MR. MONACO: Your Honor, I just want to make the 19 record clear that we -- we will participate also to get this 20 done.

21 THE COURT: All right. Okay. Do you -- are you 22 going to need an appointment order for a mediator if you agree
23 on who the mediator is, whether I get an appointment order 24 signed tomorrow or not. To my -- my way of thinking is 25 irrelevant, you can present one later, that's fine. I'll sign

1 one later.

2 MR. BERNICK: That's fine with us, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: All right. The terms and conditions will 4 be the normal --

5 MR. BERNICK: Yes.

6 THE COURT: -- terms and conditions for appointment, 7 but the mediator will have to substantiate that he or she is 8 disinterested within the meaning as you all will understand 9 that to be. Okay? That provides three weeks. The next 10 omnibus is June 2nd in Pittsburgh.

11 MR. BERNICK: Right, yes.

12 THE COURT: Okay. Is that a fair time table? We 13 address this issue again June 2nd. If there is no settlement, 14 then we will argue the bar date objections specifically because 15 I will, at that point in time, be prepared to make rulings with 16 respect to a bar date. So, Mr. Baena, I'll hear your line item 17 objections, whatever it is that you wish to bring, and anybody 18 else's, as well.

19 Mr. Scott, I will probably not address the class 20 claim issue at that time because I think I'm going to want to 21 get it either re-briefed, if you need to update the briefs, but 22 definitely I'm going to want full briefs and take a look at it
23 and have it reargued. But I prefer to get through the bar date
24 issue first. I don't see the two as inconsistent with each 25 other, I think they can be juxtaposed.

1 MR. BERNICK: That's fine with us.

2 THE COURT: All right.

3 MR. BERNICK: So, we'll simply continue the matters
4 that we talked about today until the next omnibus.

5 THE COURT: On June 2nd.

6 MR. BERNICK: Except -- except the class where -- I
7 guess we're going to hear from the Court --

8 THE COURT: The schedules.

9 MR. BERNICK: The schedules.

10 THE COURT: Yes. We will discuss the schedule for 11 adjudicating your issue, Mr. Scott, on June 2nd. So, perhaps 12 you can discuss that with the debtor in the meantime.

13 Okay. All right. As to the relief from stay 14 request, I haven't heard argument from anybody. That is not 15 likely to be granted on behalf of any ZAI claimant. I will 16 hear any argument you choose to make on June 2nd, but you'd 17 better come up with something more than what you've got in your 18 brief so far. So, that is not too likely to be granted.

19 Okay. Anything more? Mr. Hogan?

20 MR. HOGAN: Your Honor, just an -- just an 21 administrative matter. Because we were brought into this so 22 late as to these various controversies, and I filed my motions, 23 I believe I filed my response to the bar date and the 54(b)
24 motion. I filed a motion for leave, and those orders haven't 25 been signed.

1 THE COURT: They will be.

2 MR. HOGAN: Thank you, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: Okay. I'll make a note.

4 MR. BERNICK: And we'll be in immediate contact
5 (indiscernible) represent the Canadians (indiscernible).

6 THE COURT: Yes, Mr. Monaco, Mr. Hogan, and Mr.
7 Baena.

8 MR. BERNICK: Thank you.

9 THE COURT: Anyone else need to be involved in that 10 mediation discussion?

11 (No audible response heard)

12 THE COURT: Okay, folks.

13 MULTIPLE SPEAKERS: Thank you.

14 THE COURT: All right. We're adjourned. Thank you.
